Playing Suggestions.

If you can, use a big dice. It is much more fun! As each side get their question right, let them throw the dice. The fastest possible completion is in four throws. It has happened! You can either have plenty of questions and play to the end, or set a fixed number of questions for each side and see who gets the furthest in that number of questions. Both ways work well. It is up to you whether you pass questions over or not. The key is to be consistent.
